Governor Sterling Calls Election To Pick Senator

District to Vote on Successor For Late Harry M. Wurzbach

Democrat Expected by Politicians to Be Winner

VOTING ON NOV. 24th
Ballot Announced to Allow New Solon to Be Seated Next Term

AUSTIN, Tex.—(P)—Governor R. S. Sterling late Friday set November 24 as the date to hold an election in the 14th Texas district to fill the vacancy in Congress caused by the death of Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach of Seguin.

Wurzbach was the only republican member of the Texas congressional delegation. The election date was set early enough to permit the returns to be canvassed and the successful candidate seated by the time congress opened December 7.

It was generally regarded as certain the 14th district would elect a democrat to fill the vacancy.

With party strength in congress so evenly divided, election of a democrat from the district virtually would assure democratic organization of the house and election of Congressman John Garner of Texas as speaker.

Governor Sterling had withheld calling the special election to permit the state democratic executive committee and committee in the 14th district time in which "to work out something." His calling of the election was taken as an indication that an agreement had been reached to center on a candidate.

Several candidates were reported to have been campaigning for the office for the past few days withholding formal announcement until the election date had been set.

Gandhi Delivers Final Ultimatum

Britain Must Yield by Thursday or Indian Conflict Will Continue

LONDON.—(P)—Mahatma Gandhi repudiated the communal agreement between Muslims and smaller Indian minorities Friday, and announced that on Thursday he intends to leave London because he has abandoned all hope of obtaining independence for India.

At a meeting of the Minorities Committee of the round table conference Mr. Gandhi took sharp issue with Prime Minister MacDonald, who promised that the Nationalist leader expressed astonishment that the prime minister should have said the minorities agreement reached Thursday was acceptable to 46 per cent of India's population.

Asserting that his Nationalists are at least 85 per cent of India, Gandhi said he would renew the anti-British campaign rather than permit an arrangement under which the "untouchables" would remain a separate caste. When the meeting was over Gandhi told questioners that only a drastic change in the government's attitude toward the Nationalists could avert a return of chaos and tragedy in India and utter prostration of British trade.

The government has until Thursday for a change of heart, he said. On Thursday he plans to go to Paris to make an address. Later he will go to Geneva to discuss measures for relieving the world's woes.

Stamps Football Team Entertained at Banquet

STAMPS, Ark.—Harry Martin, proprietor of Martin's Cafe, entertained Friday night with a "hamburger banquet" honoring members of the Stamps high school football team. T. M. Slinnett, principal, and Walter Wilson, coach, were guests. The dining room was attractive in Stamps school colors, gold and black. Tiny footballs were used as place cards, which included the following names: Jack Chandler, Earl Tatum, Fenton Dunn, Johnny Sweeney, Delmas Rogers, George Carson, David Wilburn, Joe Dudley Talbot, Morris Wells, Allen Wilburn, Jerry Sweeney, Hanson Bork, Hugh Carson, Robert Robinson, Roy Young, Gaston Young and Hershel Gordy.

President Hoover Proposes System Home Loan Banks

Will Ask Congress to Help Institutions Holding Mortgages

DETAILS OFFERED
Government and Private Subscriptions to Furnish Capital Needed

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Pres. Hoover retired to the seclusion of the White House study Saturday to begin his annual message to congress, which he intends to focus directly upon relief of the economic situation, planning to dynamite the jams from the paths of prosperity.

Only Friday the president added for the establishment of a system of twelve home loan discount banks, designed to accelerate home building and relieve the strain on institutions dealing in mortgage loans.

WASHINGTON.—(P)—President Hoover announced Friday night he will ask Congress to establish a system of home loan discount banks to relieve institutions dealing in these securities and to open the way for a revival of home buildings. By this move he expects to relieve unemployment which he considers is due in "a considerable part to stagnation in residential construction."

An initial capitalization of $150,000,000 for the new banking system was suggested by Mr. Hoover. With this base he is confident that more than $1,800,000,000 for home building could be financed.

The capital would be raised by subscriptions from the institutions to participate. If this did not produce sufficient funds, the president would have the government appropriate the remainder to be repaid later.

He emphasized that "there is no element of inflation in the plan, but simply a better organization of credit for these purposes."

The home loan system would deal in both city and farm properties and would be established on the lines of the Federal Land banks—one institution in each of the 12 federal reserve districts.

Summarizes Situation
"The immediate credit situation," Mr. Hoover said, "has for the time being in many parts of the country restricted severely the activities of building and loan associations, deposit banks including country banks, and savings departments, saving banks and farm loan companies in such a fashion that they are not only not able to extend credit through new mortgages to home and farm owners, but are only too often unable to renew mortgages or give consideration to those in difficulty, with resultant great hardships to borrowers and a definite depreciation of real estate values in the areas where such pressures exist."

The president worked out the plan after conferences with representatives of groups involved in home building.

Prescott All-Stars Defeat Hope 20 to 7

Largest Crowd of Season Attends Legion Game Friday Night

The Hope All-Star football team was defeated by the Prescott All-Stars at the Hope High football field Friday night in a game played for the benefit of the American Legion. Both teams were pretty evenly matched.

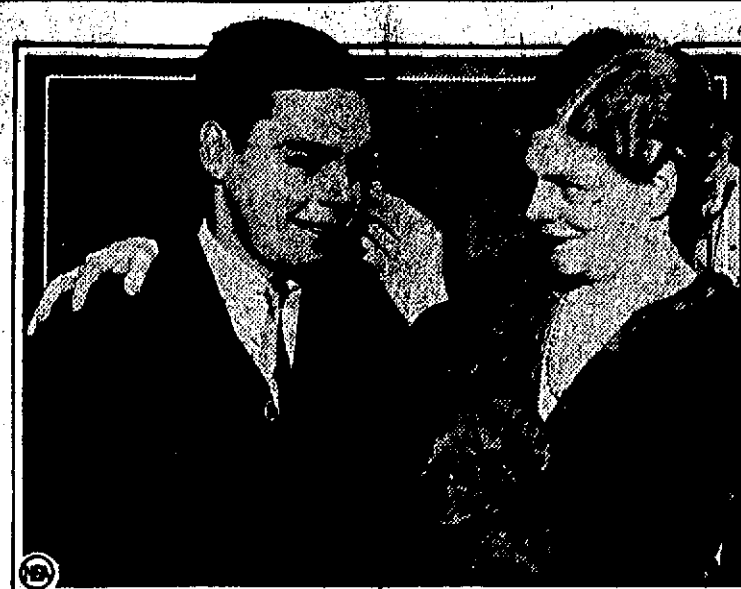

On the Hope team outstanding players were Teddy Jones, former Ouachita player and assistant coach of the high school team here, who played quarterback and did a superb job of it, circling the ends, kicking and passing for nearly all of Hope's gains. Coach Wilkin, playing end, played a good game. Waller, Cargile, Cook, Jimmie Jones and Dale Jones played good games in the Hope backfield and Hope's line was strong with two schoolies, Bill and Carroll on one side and Wise and O'Neal on the other.

Hope's touchdown came in the last quarter as a result of a pass from Jones to Waller, and the extra point was gained on another pass from Jones to Emmet. Hope came near scoring in the second quarter when after a sustained drive down the field the half ended with them in possession of the ball on Prescott's 20-yard line.

Prescott made most of their gains on end runs and off-tackle slants with "Goobee" Buchanan carrying the ball most of the time. Dalrymple, at end, played a wonderful game, charging in so fast that he seemed a part of Hope's backfield. The first Prescott score came in the second quarter when Fomby, Prescott back, intercepted a Hope pass on the Hope 30.

Another Barrymore for the Stage

Youngest heir to a famous stage tradition, John Drew Colt—a son of Ethel Barrymore—is seen here as he prepared to make his theatrical debut on Broadway. His famous mother is shown making him up for his role in "The School of Scandal." For four generations the Barrymore-Drew family has appeared in the famous comedy, dating back to the time of Louisa Lane, the elder Mrs. John Drew, who was the grandmother of Ethel Barrymore.

Pays Tribute To Senator Caraway

Veterans Bureau Manager Declares He Was Friend of Ex-Soldiers

WASHINGTON.—A tribute to Senator Caraway's work in behalf of war veterans was received Friday by Garrett Whiteside, for years the senator's secretary, James A. Winn, regional manager of the Veterans' Bureau at Little Rock, wrote:

"Those of us connected actively with the Veterans' Administration knew that in Senator Caraway the veterans, especially the disabled, had a true and sincere friend. We had an opportunity to learn and understand the senator's genuine concern for the welfare of those who served their country in times of distress."

On his return from Arkansas, Mr. Whiteside found many letters from service men and others expressing condolences over Senator Caraway's death.

Owes Her Life to Heroic Young Son

Mrs. William Disheroon, Hot Springs, Rescued From Burning Home

HOT SPRINGS.—Mrs. William Disheroon owes her life to the heroic and unusual strength of her eight-year-old son, Billy, who carried his mother from their home, 627 Mt. Ida street, when she was rendered unconscious when a large kerosene range exploded and a piece of the lamp struck her in the chest. The explosion set fire to their home, a small two-room structure.

Mrs. Disheroon and her son were the only persons in the house, her husband being away on a hunting trip. They own a large house nearby which they had rented to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Clark, who drove up a few moments after the explosion and in time to see little Billy coming from the burning house with his mother in his arms.

How the child managed to lift her is regarded by the Clarks and other neighbors as almost a miracle. Mrs. Disheroon did not regain consciousness, and was taken to St. Joseph's infirmary. Their home is located in a remote section of the city. Firemen laid 2,000 feet of hose from the nearest fire plug, but the small structure was destroyed. Their larger home was not damaged. Mrs. Disheroon is not seriously injured.

Glanton Family Have Home Coming

Honor 62nd Birthday of T. A. Glanton With Picnic Lunch

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Glanton, entertained at their home five miles southeast of Emmet, November 12th, with a home coming in honor of the 62nd birthday of Mr. Glanton.

Six sons, W. T. and family of Oakland, Grady of Texarkana, Arthur and wife of near Emmet, Courtney, Tommy and Travis, and one daughter, Mrs. Minnie Grimsley and family all of near the home of their parents, seven grandchildren and a number of friends and neighbors gathered to enjoy the hospitality extended.

Dinner was served picnic style on the lawn, the table being centered with a huge cake, on which were 62 candles.

Mr. Glanton was the recipient of several useful gifts.

To Award Prizes For Big Pumpkins

Kiwanis President, R. V. Herndon Calls in 4-H Competitors

Former members of the Hempstead County 4-H Clubs, who secured pumpkin seeds from the Kiwanis Club, are being asked by that organization to bring in one pumpkin each, to R. V. Herndon, club president, at the Hope Furniture company, within the next week.

Prizes for the largest and heaviest pumpkins are to be paid in cash, when all have been received. The seeds were sent out by the Kiwanis Club last spring, to encourage the growth of pumpkins in this section and to furnish one piece of constructive work for the 4-H clubs to do, since their work was abandoned with the discontinuance of home demonstration agent work in this county almost two years ago.

The prizes are to be paid by R. V. Herndon. Sale of the pumpkins received, one from each 4-H club member who received pumpkin seed, is expected to cover the cost of buying the seed.

The following officers for the 1932 year were elected at Friday night's meeting of the Kiwanis club, at the Capital Hotel. They were as follows: Lyle Webb, president; Parks Fisher, vice-president; and J. M. Harbin, district trustee. The following were elected to the board of directors: John P. Cox, Dewey Hendrix, Ira Halliburton, Doris Fincher, Pat Simpson, A. E. Stonequist and C. W. Weltman.

Dr. Frank Pickell and Howard Schuster, manager of the Saenger Theatre, were initiated into the club Friday night.

Next week's meeting will be held with the Chamber of Commerce, who hold their annual membership meet at the Barlow Hotel.

To End Gambling at New Orleans

Attorney General Threatens to Act If Local Officers Do Not

NEW ORLEANS.—(P)—Where Gov. Huey P. Long two years ago used the National Guard to break up gambling in the casinos of St. Bernard and Jefferson parishes, Attorney General Percy Saint Friday stepped in and warned the local district attorneys that he would halt it with the constitution.

L. H. Perez, district attorney of St. Bernard parish, replied by summoning the parish grand jury for a special meeting tomorrow and invited Saint to send witnesses.

District Attorney John Fleury of Jefferson parish, held a conference with the Jefferson grand jury and word was passed from the fashionable night clubs and other big resorts in the New Orleans area that gambling rooms would be closed Friday night but the night show would go on.

Saint charged that open gambling was being carried on in the parishes and threatened to act against the officials if the state anti-gambling law was not enforced and violators prosecuted. He gave the parishes until midnight Friday night to halt gambling.

In the military raids, Governor Long's troops took the big gambling houses by surprise, had women attendants search women suspected of hiding the money in their clothing, burned the gambling paraphernalia and turned money seized into the state treasury.

Wyoming Governor Praises Arkansas in Naming Senator

Mrs. Caraway's Appointment to Have Influence on Women of Nation

1ST WOMAN SENATOR

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross Sends Telegram to Lamar Williamson

MONTICELLO.—(P)—The first woman governor and leader of Democratic women, Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, Saturday congratulated the Democratic party of Arkansas upon being the first state to send a woman to serve in the United States Senate and this step, "will be far reaching in its influence upon the women of the nation."

Mrs. Ross sent a telegram to Lamar Williamson, chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee, expressing gratification over the appointment of Mrs. Hattie Caraway to succeed her husband.

Mr. Williamson announced he would support Mrs. Caraway before the committee when it meets December 1, for the nomination of a candidate for the remainder of the unexpired term and predicted she would receive it.

"I anticipate Mrs. Caraway's nomination by the committee," she has my hearty personal approval.

Hudspeth's Letter May Be Fictitious

Harrison Officers Believe Purported Message From Banker Hoax

HARRISON.—Authenticity of a letter said to have been received by W. E. Angel, merchant at Bruno, Marion county, purporting to have been sent by A. T. Hudspeth, missing Harrison banker, from Buenos Aires, Argentina, is scouted by Prosecuting Attorney Jack Holt and D. D. Dunkin, chairman of a Depositors Association here.

According to a report to Mr. Dunkin by residents of Bruno, the letter was signed "R. H." rather than with the correct initials of the absconding banker, and instead of taking precautions against tracing him the writer left the impression that he felt secure in the fact that he was as far away as the Argentine capital. The letter is said to contain a cable address to be used by Mr. Angel in communicating with the writer.

Neither Mr. Dunkin nor the prosecuting attorney has seen the letter and have not had an opportunity to check stamps and postmarks to determine if the letter really was mailed from the South American city. The letter, it was reported to Mr. Dunkin, urged Mr. Angel to "take care" of his daughter, Blaine, aged 16, who left Harrison the day before her father fled, returned to Arkansas about six weeks ago and was married to Truman Shaddock of Harrison. They now reside in Harrison. The letter was said to indicate further that W. A. Hudspeth, son of the chain bank head, also sought as a fugitive, was with his father, but made no mention of Mrs. Hudspeth or the two-year-old son of W. A. Hudspeth, who also are missing.

A report current here for several days that Mrs. Hudspeth had returned to Harrison, apparently is without foundation, and relatives of the Hudspeths emphatically deny the rumor. Mr. Dunkin said that because of the inconsistencies in the reported letter, he is inclined to place it in the same category as several other reports which have proved groundless. Two "tips" were that Hudspeth and other members of his family were in New York. Another was that he had been seen in Louisiana headed toward Arkansas.

In this case the description of the car Hudspeth was supposed to have been driving was given. Still other reports, none of which proved of any value, have said Hudspeth was in Seattle or other places in the West.

Both Mr. Dunkin and Mr. Holt said that they expect to investigate the purported Buenos Aires letter, but that they believe it either is the work of a crank or a cleverly worked out scheme to throw officers farther off the trail.

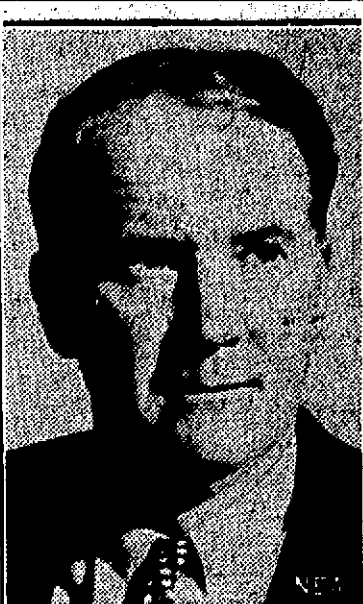

Columbus Wins Two Basket Ball Games

Two basket ball games, resulting in victory for both the Columbus boys and girls' team, were played in Hope Friday night.

The boys played Quernsey, winning by a score of 17 to 7 and the girls won over Spring Hill by a 9 to 3 score.

Last year Columbus had the best team in the county, winning over almost every team that they played.

Cotton Is Off 11 Points Saturday

But Market Absorbs Record-Breaking 1931 Crop Report

Cotton sold off 11 points Saturday, closing at 6.34 for December contracts. Saturday opened at 6.40, five points off from Friday's close of 6.45, and lost six additional points during the short week-end trading.

The current week showed a slight recession in cotton values: December contracts dropping from 6.50 on Thursday to 6.45 Friday, and 6.34 Saturday. The market showed exceptional strength, however, in absorbing a government report the first of the week indicating the second largest all-time American cotton report, and the largest ever in the history of Arkansas.

South Has More Cows, Fewer Hogs

Dairy Industry Growing While Production of Pork Falls Off

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(P)—Statistics submitted to the Southern Regional Agricultural Outlook Conference Friday showed that the dairy industry is looking up in the South but hog raising is on the decline.

If the Southern farmer increases his dairy herd for home consumption or the sale locally of fluid milk, the cow should give him more profit than any crop he can plant, the report said. But warning was given that care should be taken in going into butter fat production on a large scale because of indications that there will be a big expansion of dairy herds in the East and Northwest.

Expansion of beef cattle production in the South should depend on the facilities for ample pasturage, the report held.

Hog raising in the South has fallen off nearly 50 per cent in the last 11 years. In 1920 the South produced 27 per cent of all hogs in the country. The figure now is 15 per cent. In numbers there are 2,947,000 fewer hogs in the Southern states than there were in 1928.

Big stocks of poultry and eggs are in storage over the country, the survey indicated, with prices the lowest since 1915.

Hunting Accident Results Fatally

Odus Workman, 18, of Lepanto Succumbs in Blytheville Hospital

BLYTHERVILLE.—Odus Workman, aged 18 of Lepanto, died at the Blytheville hospital early Friday from wounds received when his shotgun accidentally discharged Thursday. The accident occurred while the youthful farmer and his companion, Charles Stromire, were hunting near Lepanto in the southern part of Mississippi county.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Fay Workman; his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Winters of Holland, Mo., at whose home the funeral will be held Saturday; two sisters, Miss Opal Workman of Holland and Mrs. Pearl Winters of Springfield, Mo., and his father, John Workman of Arbyrd, Mo.

Final Hearings on Petition to Acquire Cotton Belt Heard

E. J. White of Missouri Pacific Argues Against Commission

ASK PERMIT REFUSAL

Commission to Give Opinion Within Short Time

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Opposition to creation of entrance into the St. Louis market by the Southern Pacific railroad was voiced Saturday before the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Van Sweringen interests.

E. J. White, Missouri Pacific representative, argued the commission should stick to its consolidation plan in the southwest and refuse to permit the Southern Pacific to acquire the St. Louis Southwestern.

The commission is hearing the final arguments of the Southern Pacific petition to acquire the Cotton Belt. White said this is inconsistent with the attempts of the Van Sweringens, who have a plan amended as to Western railroads.

The Van Sweringens control the Missouri Pacific.

The commission is expected to announce their opinion within a week or two.

Farmers Rapidly Repay Their Loans

Nearly One-Fourth of the Drouth Relief Funds Returned to Treasury

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Farmers repaying borrowed millions back into the government's treasury. With plentiful crops, slightly higher prices and skillful management they have returned nearly one-fourth of the loans with which they repaid fields after 1930's drouth. At the rate of about $2,000,000 weekly, the Agriculture Department has received $74,960,000, chiefly from the South. More than one-third of the repayments have been on notes that don't mature until November 30.

The Northwest, stricken after this summer by drouth, farmers have returned paper totaling $388,000.

George L. Hoffman, Seed Loan Office director, said today that after the department's announcement that cotton would be accepted as loan collateral at eight cents a pound, stocks stayed as security increased from 15,729 bales to 24,367. The department set this price to encourage storage of cotton for higher prices and to release part of the mortgaged crop for farm and home necessities.

A practically $4,000,000 seed loan in the Northwest fell due September 30, and $30,000,000 in the South matured on October 20. The remainder of the $47,000,000 comes due November 30.

New loans, however, have been made in the Northwest for the purchase of livestock feed. The loans totaling $1,498,875 chiefly in northeastern Montana and northwestern North Dakota, do not mature until next year.

Engineer Seeks to Turn River Bed Into Highway

LOS ANGELES.—(P)—The Los Angeles river bed will become a highway if plans of J. J. Jessup, city engineer, materialize.

In a report to the board of public works, Jessup recommended that the river bed be made a roadway extending from San Fernando valley, rich agricultural area and terminating at Los Angeles harbor.

The river bed is dry much of the time and since flood control dams have been constructed in the mountains, flood waters can be regulated. Jessup recommended the truck highway follow the course formerly taken by the flood waters.

Three Negroes Badly Hurt in Auto Mishap

TEXARKANA.—Three negroes and a baby were injured slightly late Friday when the car in which they were riding crashed into a tree and overturned two miles north of Douglassville.

O. D. Moore and Iola Hubbard, the more seriously injured of the four, were brought to the Texarkana hospital. Moore sustained a dislocated hip and the women cuts and bruises about the body. Moore's wife, and baby also were injured in the crash but were not brought to the hospital. The accident was said to have occurred when Moore lost control of the car.

San Diego Mission Was Once Burned, Sacked by Indians

Mission San Diego de Alcalá

It was July 16, 1768. Padres Junipero Serra, Juan Vizcaino and Ferdinand Parron and a handful of colonists and soldiers were gathered to start the Mission San Diego de Alcalá—first of the chain of missions built by the Franciscans in California.

The ceremony was impressive, and it marked a religious epoch. The Indians were anything but friendly. They stole clothing; they even tried to cut down the sails of the ships in the harbor. They finally attacked the mission, using spears, clubs and arrows. After they were repulsed, they brought their wounded to the mission for treatment, and it was accorded them.

Padre Serra worked zealously for a few Indian converts, and to baptize children. Finally, an infant was brought for baptism—but before the service could be held, his parents snatched the child and fled. Padre Serra always attributed this frustration to his own sins, and often wept about it.

A year after the founding, there was not a Christianized Indian. Sickness had reduced the colony of whites to 20 persons. In 1774, the mission was moved to its present site. A year later there were 97 Indian neophytes, a new well and land under cultivation. That fall, however, the "outside" Indians attacked the mission, set fire to the buildings, beat a priest to death, sacked the chapel and practically destroyed the entire plan and plant.

"Thanks be to God; that land is watered; now will follow the conversion of the San Diego Indians," said the good Padre Serra when informed of the loss of the mission. By 1780, the mission was rebuilt. Its granaries were filled. An extensive irrigation system was started. There were over 740 Indian converts. The work was succeeding.

A new church building was completed in 1808, and the mission was prospering. There were more than 1500 Indian converts by 1821. Then, however, the mission was abandoned. In 1834, the Mexican government, succeeding that of Spain, took the property from the Franciscan missionaries. Through the years, it went to ruins.

But now it has been restored after a project covering 20 years. Mission San Diego de Alcalá is a landmark to church work in California.

Fight Against Trachoma Aids 47,000 in Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—More than 47,000 persons in Kentucky have been restored to normal sight during the last 25 years as a result of the state health board's fight against trachoma.

The number of cases in the state has been reduced from 50,000 in 1912 to less than 3,000 at present, records made public by Dr. C. B. Kobert reveal.

First clinics for treatment of the disease were established in mountain districts by Miss Linda Neville and Miss May Stone in 1908. By 1920 the state bureau of trachoma had been organized, with a personnel of a doctor and two nurses.

Federal Farm Loan Agent to Make Tour

IDAHO, Okla.—R. E. Powers, field agent for the federal farm loan office in St. Louis, will visit the farmers of McCurtain county from November 16 to November 27. He is scheduled to visit 30 communities. He will be in Foreman, Arkinda, DeQueen, Hatfield, Cove, Gentry and Gilman, Ark., while on this trip.

PRESIDENT HOOVER

credit operations. He also consulted some congressional leaders.

Senator Glass, democrat, of Virginia, one of those consulted by the president, offered no comment except to assure a willingness to give the plan thorough consideration.

Mr. Hoover said the new system would not displace the National Credit Association which, he said, "occupies an entirely different field of action."

Four purposes were outlined for the new banking system:

1. For the present emergency purpose of relieving financial strains upon sound building and loan associations, saving banks, deposit banks and Farm Loan banks that have been giving credit through the medium of small mortgage loans upon urban and rural property for use of homes.

2. To put the various types of institutions loaning on mortgage in a position to assist in the revival of home construction in many parts of the country and with its resultant increase in employment.

3. To safeguard against repetition of such experiences in the future.

4. For the long view purpose of strengthening such institutions in the promotion of home ownership particularly in the financial strength thus made available to build and loan associations.

Hoover in General Mood
The president's mood was one of relaxation, as he laid the plan before correspondents at his late afternoon press conference.

He talked informally about its ramifications. Smiling when many newspapers produced pencil and notebook to record his ideas, he exhibited the carefully prepared and mimeographed statement of the entire proposal.

It has been in process of formulation for three months. The president has conferred upon it with interested groups from all parts of the country. He has obtained approval of many savings banks, building and loan associations and similar institutions.

Some members of Congress have been shown the plan, but as yet the president has not canvassed the congressional field thoroughly.

Although Mr. Hoover was said to have found it difficult to determine the volume of credit he desired to loosen, he believes it to range between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000,000.

It was said on the highest authority, however, that the president believes the means necessary to free this tied-up credit probably need not be large. He believes it is largely a matter of assurance to the institutions involved.

yard line and ran to the 3-yard line before being downed by Jimmie Jones. On two plays Prescott carried it over. They plunged for extra point.

Another touchdown was made in the third quarter when after a drive down the field Meeks, Henderson man plunged twice for 2 yards each for the tally. Buchanan drop-kicked for the extra point.

Prescott's last marker came in the last quarter when Buchanan passed to Dalrymple over the Hope goal line. Buchanan drop-kick was blocked by Cargile. After this marker Hope made a sustained drive up the field, alternating with Teddy Jones carrying the ball around the end and passes, completing nearly every play. With only one minute to play, Buchanan, intercepted by Hope pass you're exceptional. So states Dr. W. F. Lasby, dean of the college of dentistry of the University of Minnesota, who attended the convention of the American Dental Association here. He states that his conclusions are based on the examination of the teeth of 11,000 persons.

Are You Unusual?

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—If you've got all your teeth at 40, you're unusual, and if you have any teeth at all at 80, you're exceptional. So states Dr. W. F. Lasby, dean of the college of dentistry of the University of Minnesota, who attended the convention of the American Dental Association here. He states that his conclusions are based on the examination of the teeth of 11,000 persons.

Women Union Workers

WASHINGTON.—Organized labor unions of the United States now number among their workers a total of 600,000 women, according to a report of the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor. This is but a small portion of the total number of workers, however, there being about 11,000,000 in the country.

AT THE THEATER

When the present interviewer located Joe E. Brown, at the Saenger Theater as the star of "Broad Minded," the First National comedy—the mouthy mirthmaker was attired in rompers and ababy cap, shaking a rattle.

"Why the masquerade?" asked the press representative.

"Why, you see, brother," said Joe with his most ingratiating grin. "Kalm and Ruby wrote a baby party into 'Broad Minded' and I'm supposed to hawl like a baby—so of course I gotta be got up like one. All the girls in the cast like the idea—they're babies, too, see, swell ones—wait 'till you look 'em over. Buster Collier didn't take to the party at first, but he came around. Wanta hear me bawl?"

"I want the story of your life," said the writer.

"Well, that won't take long," confided Joe. "I'm just six now, see!"

"No kidding!" pled the visitor.

"You want the straight goods, in other words. Well it all began when I fell out of a tree. That gave 'em a hunch to make an acrobat out of me, and they did. I was one of the five Ashton for several seasons—then a scout for the Boston Red Sox signed me for a season with Fainless Parker—the dentist. I was to be a terrible example in outdoor dental demonstrations. Then, one day two small boys got too close to my trap and fell in—and they had to drive the crowd away while they fished the kids out.

"Shortly after this, motion pictures were invented and David Wark Griffith sent for me and asked me as a boon to the industry, to remain on the stage. So I went back behind the footlights to oblige him, playing Tuesday night in 'Ten Nights in a Barroom,' then stargued in 'Twinkle Twinkle' but was forced to abandon this role in time because my partner insisted on knocking me out at each performance with a stuffed club.

"Then, Technicolor was invented and the yellow cab was made immortal in 'On With the Show' and Warner Bros. needed comic relief for this cab opera and I was signed to help Louis Fazenda squeak.

"My career since that time is too well known to repeat. I have put art back on the pedestal it occupied before the jazz age, and little children can again ask their mothers to go to the pictures without fear.

"How about a tariff on laughs?" "Well, now you touch me deeply—you touch me to the quick, as it were," said the sad-faced comedian. "I knew a fellow, that laughed once, and never got over it. Sort of hurt his pride. He was a clown in a circus and didn't believe in taking his own medicine."

Those in support of Joe E. Brown in "Broad Minded" showing at the Saenger Saturday night preview and Sunday and Monday, are One Munson, William Collier, Jr., Marjorie White, Holmes Herbert, Margaret Livingston, Thelma Todd, Grace Hampton, Bela Lugosi and Geo. Grandee.

Solar Furnace

PASADENA, Cal.—Temperatures up to 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit are expected in a solar furnace being devised here by scientists of the California Institute of Technology. The heat will be obtained directly from the radiation of the sun and will be concentrated in the furnace. The temperature will be nearly as hot as that, on the surface of the sun, it is said.

The "Sponge" Squad

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—This city has an intelligent liquor squad. When John Jackson, negro, was being chased for the possession of corn liquor, he hurled a package of bottles on the ground, smashing them and spilling their contents over the sidewalk. Using a handkerchief, each policeman "sponged" up part of the liquor. They squeezed enough in a bottle to make a half-pint. This was analyzed and Jackson was arrested on the results.

Proven Honesty

MONTICELLO, Wis.—No one can now doubt the honesty of a debtor of Mrs. Martha J. Richards. Mrs. Richards was ironing recently when the woman, a former resident of this city and now living in Rockford, Ill., called and gave her $5 of a $6 debt she had contracted 40 years ago with Mrs. Richards' husband, store owner. She promised to pay the remaining dollars as soon as she could spare it.

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—If you've got all your teeth at 40, you're unusual, and if you have any teeth at all at 80, you're exceptional. So states Dr. W. F. DRIFTS

Ever notice how drifts in streams retard the flow? Sure!

Had you thought of how overdue accounts retard the flow—the circulation—of money?

Maybe. The effect is precisely the same.

Every past-due account is a drift in the Stream of Commerce—a dam damning the whole community.

What Shall It Profit a Man if He Gain the Whole World?

Money, fine clothes, ease, luxury—all these things cannot make up the loss to the man or woman who, ignoring the greatest thing in life, drives past the church door on Sunday morning without taking part in the services inside. There is peace, comfort, happiness and security to be found in your church that cannot be gained in any other place.
